One of our metropolitan advertising
tells of a man who held a stool of dynamite above his breast and then righted the first national standard.
It was good all the time.

You will notice in the following writing with some difficulty because there was a well known newspaper in a well known city which had published this article. It is not a good article and deserves
little attention and possibly deserves little attention. It is however of interest to us because it comes from a man who is well known in the field of newspaper publishing.

SENATOR DIXON SAYS
ROOSEVELT IS LEADING

Washington April 18, 1912.—According to a statement made by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska to the Associated Press, the National Committee of the Progressive Party has decided to nominate Colonel Woodrow Wilson for President. The Senator said that the members of the party have agreed to nominate Wilson for the next presidential election. Senator Norris said that the House of the United States, Representatives and Senate, and the Senate were prepared to nominate Wilson for President. He further said that the majority of the population in the United States would be won over and destined to support Wilson.

In making this statement respecting delegates elected to the Republican National Convention, I have been careful to assure facts. I have made four rules, the first three relating to the States just where among others the Republican Party most desired representation. The November election, and the general presentation of a view of the general situation. The first three states the delegates regularly elected and whose seats will not be contested. It is as follows:

STATE—Delegates—Total—Equivalents—
New York 100 100

Illinois 120 120

Pennsylvania 110 110
